Mayhem and Immortal have been added to the just-announced lineup of this year's Rockstar Energy Mayhem Festival. The additions are reportedly in response to complaints about the weak lineup announced just yesterday.

Mayhem is celebrating 30 years as a band and the tour will be in support of the release of their upcoming new album, "Psywar."

"We're making this Mayhem festival our own. Skinny jeans will be soiled. Blood will be shed." tweeted Mayhem bassist Necrobutcher.

The Mayhem touring festival becomes the first time Immortal has done a regular tour in years, as they've opted to play primarily festival events recently.
