

Van Halen will tour North America this summer and fall in support of their upcoming concert album, Tokyo Dome Live in Concert. They will play Jones Beach on Aug 13 & 15!

David Lee Roth – who sang on the band’s most recent studio LP, 2012’s A Different Kind of Truth – will be on board for the tour, which will include the Kenny Wayne Shepherd Band as the opening act on all dates.

In addition to the upcoming tour, the band will perform a concert on Jimmy Kimmel Live on March 30 and 31, the day Tokyo Dome Live in Concert comes out. It’s being touted as the band’s first U.S. TV appearance with Roth. (Van Halen are also scheduled to perform on The Ellen DeGeneres Show on April 2.)

The upcoming live set — the group’s first with Roth — includes 23 songs from the seven albums the band recorded with its original singer. The album documents a show recorded on June 21, 2013, in Tokyo.

On the same day that record is released, Van Halen are reissuing remastered versions of Van Halen and 1984, with new versions of Van Halen II, Women and Children First, Fair Warning and Diver Down to follow in the spring.
