

Steely Dan will once again team up with Steve Winwood for a 2020 summer tour, Dubbed the “Earth After Hours” tour, with a stop at Jones Beach on Sun, July 5, 2020 - tix: <http://STEELYDAN.jonesbeach.com>

Steely Dan toured the US last fall, including a five-night NYC run where they played some of their classic LPs in their entirety, and they’ll be hitting the road again this summer, this time with past tourmate Steve Winwood serving as opener on most dates. The “Earth After Hours” tour will play the classic rock hits. Steely Dan lead vocalist and keyboardist Donald Fagen has continued to perform live under the Steely Dan name since the band's co-founder, multi-instrumentalist and backing vocalist, Walter Becker, died of complications from esophageal cancer in 2017. Steely Dan and Winwood have been touring partners before; most recently, they toured the UK and Ireland together in Feb. 2019.

Stephen Lawrence Winwood (born 12 May 1948) is an English singer and musician whose genres include progressive rock, blue-eyed soul, rhythm and blues, blues rock, pop rock, and jazz. Though primarily a vocalist and keyboard player, Winwood also plays a wide variety of other instruments; on several of his solo albums he has played all instrumentation, including drums, mandolin, guitars, bass and saxophone.