“There is nothing more gratifying about writing and recording music than getting to play it live for the fans,” says Bryan. “There’s several songs off my new album that I’ve never performed live. I can’t believe this moment is nearly here when we get to hop on the tour bus and roll into towns across America and get back to doing what we do best. What we live to do!”

The album in question, Born Here Live Here Die Here, was released in summer 2020, and a deluxe edition featuring six new songs came out on April 9. The record has so far produced four consecutive country airplay chart No.1s, in “Knockin’ Boots,” “What She Wants Tonight,” “One Margarita,” and “Down To One.”
